Industry Comments

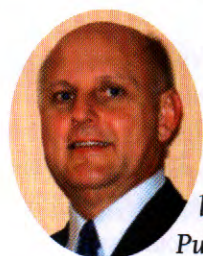

"What a truly remarkable creative and talented organization! My professional relationship with Trade Publishing has very pleasantly endured for over 30 years. Everyone is so friendly and polite and their abounding aloha spirit within all areas of this community enterprise is contagious!

"Kini Popo, Link, Don, John and others at Trade were extremely helpful in publicizing my futuristic Hawaii 2176 'Quadracentennial City' project events for the American Bicentennial Commission. They accommodated our Honolulu CSI Chapter for years, including publishing our award-winning 'Division 17' newsletter.

"Trade has been really wonderful to Hawaii Society AIA, AIA Honolulu, AIA Maui, AIA Hawaii Council, and AIA Guam, and very creatively initiated 'Architects' Corner' in B.I. several years ago as well as reporting on AIA news and events for a half century (wow!).

"As a 'contributing writer' to Building Industry for these past few years, I have the highest respect for the superior quality of their facilitated and expedited communications, their capabilities to attract outstanding advertising, the continuing support of Hawaii and Guam construction industries and their brilliant contributions to the overwhelming success of our very educational and informative annual AIA/CSI Expo."

Andrew Charles Yanoviak, AIA, APAS, CSI

"It is with great pleasure that I welcome this opportunity to congratulate Trade Publishing on a 'great job, very well done' for the past 50 years. The HPLA relies on organizations like yours, with your specifically loyal and targeted audience, to better achieve our goals of promoting lumber as the preferred building material in Hawaii's climate and construction conditions. Trade Publishing has been a steady ship in Hawaii's publishing sea for the past 50 years, always helping to inform and educate your very dedicated readers. Great job, very well done."

Hap Person, president, HPLA (Hawaii Lumber Products Association)
